

CJEN EDITOR

EXPRESSION OF INTEREST

The National Emergency Nurses Association (NENA) is looking for an editor of the Canadian Journal of Emergency Nursing. This is an appointed position for a term to be determined by the NENA Board of Directors.

The Canadian Journal of Emergency Nursing is the official print voice for NENA and reflects the objectives and direction of the association. It chronicles the activities of the organization and its affiliates and reflects international emergency nursing trends.

Reporting to the NENA Board of Directors, the selected candidate would plan content and design of the semi-annual Canadian Journal of Emergency Nurses. Other aspects of this position include liaising with the NENA's webmaster, NENA's financial director, NENA's printer and publisher, active NENA committees, translation services, and potential advertisers.

Qualifications for Position:

- Current NENA membership
- Excellent grammar composition skills
- Background in journalism and graphic design preferred

This is a dynamic position requiring considerable time and high energy during the publishing periods but providing immense satisfaction.

Please submit your letter of interest to:

president@nena.ca

Deadline for submission is October 15, 2016